Citizens Asked To Name School Building Here

Board of Education Asks Names Be Submitted for Approval—Lists Rules and Regulations.

WORK PROGRESSES

Concrete Nearly Done, Brick Work Started, Steel Construction Next Week.

A name for the new school which is being erected on Andrew street at the rear of the present high school building is being sought by the Board of Education. The board at its monthly meeting Thursday evening voted to leave the naming of the building "up to the ones who are going to pay for it," the citizens of Kingston.

As a result the citizens of Kingston may submit suggested names for the new building and the name most appropriate will be selected. The contest for a name will close at noon on March 15 and no names submitted after that date will be considered. In order to give the matter the widest publicity the board voted to publish a coupon which may be used in the contest. All that is required is to place the suggested name on the space provided in the coupon and sign the coupon with your name and address and mail it to the Superintendent of Schools, B. C. Van Ingen, High School, Kingston.

Of course the name suggested must be short and concise and suitable for inscription in the usual space which is allocated on a building for such a name. The name cannot include the words "junior high school" since the school does not comply with the State Education Department requirements for such a designation. President Alfred Schmid pointed out that the new school will not include seventh grade students which are customarily enrolled in a Junior High School. The name "Central" school cannot be used since the designation is one given by the State Department to schools which incorporate all of the educational facilities of several districts such as may be found in numerous rural sections.

Progress Made
Progress on the new school is being made with increased rapidity as better weather comes. Trustee Peeney for the Building committee reported that concrete foundations have been completed with the exception of the boiler room section. Brick work has progressed on the front section of the building to the point where the first of the Indiana limestone trim has been put in place.

Under the direction of the Board of Public Works the work of digging the trench for sewer, water and gas connections to O'Reilly street is about half completed.

Monday the erection of steel work will be commenced and a large part of the steel work is now on the premises. W. W. Kingston Company, general contractors, has arranged for steel workers to be on the job next week. Mr. Peeney said that the only steelworker residing in Kingston had been engaged to work on the job and the other expert steel erectors would have to be brought here for the contract. At present about 50 men are being given employment on the building and all local help is being used unless some skilled trade required special workmen.

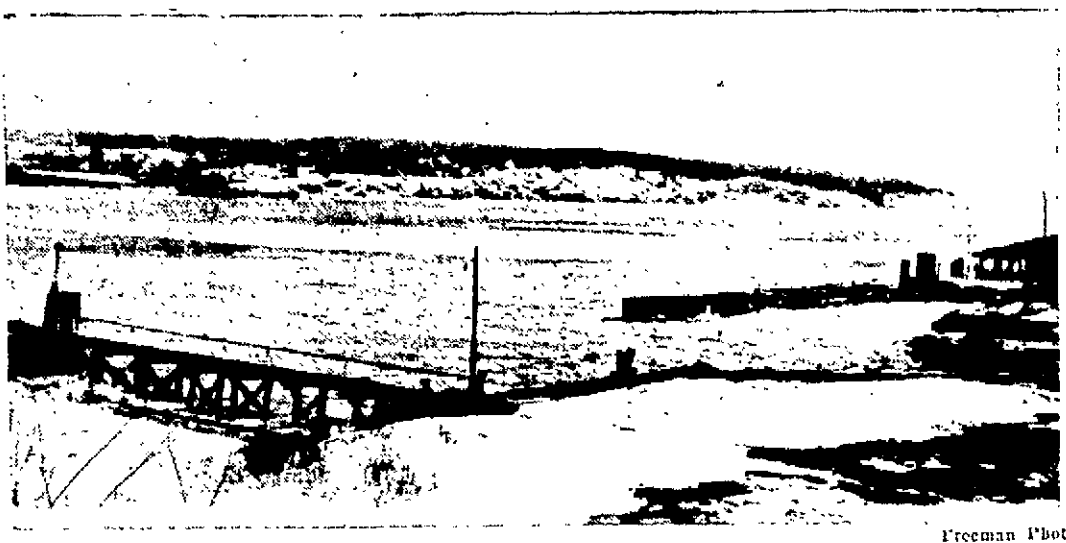

The cornerstone laying will take place, probably next week, without ceremony. The usual documents have been gathered and examined by the members of the Board and these papers and documents will be placed in the stone and laid without public ceremony when the progress of the building has reached that point. Later a public dedication service will be held when the building is ready for occupancy.

Private Telephones
Arrangements have been completed for installation of a private telephone system within the building. The matter of a private system of installation of a public system was under advisement for a time but the committee decided that for communication within the building the private system would be less expensive after installed. Phone connections with the outside will be made by four trunk lines and one extension and will be operated through the switchboard in the office of the principal of the high school. The inside communication system will permit conversation with the principal's office but will have no outside connection.

Trustee Peeney also reported that the building committee recommended the installation of a partial sprinkler system in the new building. The board adopted the recommendation. The system will cost about $2,700 and will result in the reduction of the insurance rate of $402.50 a year.

Ice Clearing, Ferry to Resume

The ice is clearing in the Hudson River and it is expected that the ferry transport will resume operations between Kingston and Rhinebeck on Sunday. The coast guard cutters have been keeping a channel open between New York and Albany for the use of ocean going steamships. An idea of the clearing river may be had from this view taken at Kingston Point.

Wayburn to Give Blossom Waltz at Festival Contest

Supplementing the main feature of the evening—the selection of four young ladies from a list of 45 candidates—several other attractions have been obtained by the Junior League to make the occasion tomorrow night at the municipal auditorium one to be long remembered.

Ned Wayburn, chief judge at the Atlantic City Beauty Contest, who will serve as one of the judges at the contest Saturday evening, will provide two new dances for the occasion. The first, "The Blossom Waltz," will be presented for the first time here and is dedicated to the festival. Miss Beulah Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Phelps of Saugerties, and a member of the Wayburn School staff, and her dancing partner, John Dinsmore, will present this number. The second dance, publicized as the "successor to the Big Apple," and introduced by the Wayburn school is "The Little Peach."

ARMY REFUSES WPA MEN BECAUSE RANKS ARE FULL.

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—A plan to ease relief rolls by voluntary transfers from WPA rolls to the army, navy or marine corps was disclosed today, with an accompanying announcement that the plan had come to naught because the army had suspended enlistments.

The proposal came out of a conference six weeks ago between WPA and army officials. Col. L. B. Magruder, acting recruiting officer for the Second Corps Area, said that his office was alive but he consistently refused to reveal their name or address as he did not want them to be noticed of his plight or the trouble he was in.

Brown entered the death chamber calmly and three minutes after he was pronounced dead by the examining physicians.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—The position of the Treasury on February 25: Receipts $75,680,120.10; expenditures $82,717,231.12; balance $29,922,886,341.97; customs receipts for the month $19,147,924.53. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1) $2,819,208,485.73; expenditures, $2,841,302,107.41, including $1,210,509,649.02 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures $1,022,093,621.71; gross debt $37,628,349,825.79, an increase of $11,744,254.16 above the previous day; gold assets $12,784,387,960.66.

Bill to Finance Convention

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Legislative leaders drafted today a measure calling for appropriation of $1,500,000 to finance the convention which meets in April to revise the state's organic law.

The bill, if drafted by the fiscal experts of both Senate and Assembly, will be put to a vote next week to supplement Governor Lehman's already adopted $385,364,615 budget.

While providing for financing of the convention, first to be held since 1915, leaders also are busy arranging for capitol offices for delegates and committee meetings. The chairman of the convention will use the Assembly speaker's office.

The $1,500,000 bill will permit each of the 168 delegates to have either a clerk or stenographer. Each delegate will receive $2,500, plus mileage. Employees such as clerks, stenographers and page boys will be paid on a per diem basis.

Brown, "Most Lonely Death House Inmate," Goes Calmly to Chair

Firmly Refuses to Reveal Parents' Address, Mumbles "God Forgive Me"

Charles James Brown, described as the most lonesome man who was ever confined to the death house at Sing Sing prison, paid the penalty Thursday night in the electric chair for the murder of Isadore Handelman. The execution was set for 11 o'clock and at 11:02 the green door swung open and Brown was brought into the death chamber where the witnesses were assembled. Among the witnesses were Sheriff Abram F. Molyneux, who was present in his official capacity as sheriff of Ulster county and County Attorney Roscoe V. Elsbeth, personal representative of Elizabeth Arden.

Paul Zucca will be master of ceremonies for the affair and his orchestra will provide music throughout the evening and after the judging will play for dancing.

Brown went to the chair without making known the names of his parents. It had been one of his requests that his father, who was "a preacher," should not be notified of his trouble. Brown had throughout the ordeal since his arrest refused to give the name of his parents because he did not want to have his troubles taken back to his parents or to "disgrace them."

Consequently with none of his relatives having knowledge of his plight he never received a visit from a relative during the eight months of confinement to the death cell.

At the time of his conviction he answered in the routine manner that his parents were alive but he consistently refused to reveal their name or address as he did not want them to be noticed of his plight or the trouble he was in.

Brown entered the death chamber calmly and three minutes after he was pronounced dead by the examining physicians.

Relief Officer Stalled

Hoboken, N. J., Feb. 25 (AP)—Harry L. Barck, in charge of relief administration in Hoboken for 49 years, was fatally stabbed today in his office, police said, by a relief client.

Police held a man they identified as Joseph Scutellaro, 25, an unemployed carpenter and mason, on a charge of atrocious assault and battery pending further investigation.

May Delay Independence

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Administration officials have been discussing the possibility, informed persons said today, of postponing Philippine independence because of disturbed conditions in the Far East.

A decision has not been reached. It was emphasized, however, that the islands would receive complete political freedom in 1946.

Some members of Congress, on the other hand, have been advocating that the United States should get out of the Philippines at once, inasmuch as the islands are close to the Sino-Japanese war zone.

Problems of the islands will be discussed at luncheon tomorrow by President Roosevelt and Paul V. McNutt, American high commissioner. The latter talked with the President yesterday but said afterward the meeting was "only a preliminary one touching upon the merest highlights."

In support of their belief that a change of policy might be forthcoming, some observers cited President Roosevelt's recent announcement of a plan for continuing commercial relationships with the Philippines until 1950. Under this arrangement the United States, even after political independence became effective, would by no means pull up stakes entirely.

Meanwhile, Representative Brewster (R-Mc.) said the danger of the United States becoming embroiled in an Asiatic war had been intensified by Great Britain's overtures toward Germany and Italy.

Brewster, a member of the House naval committee, said in an interview that an accord with Italy and Germany would leave Britain free in Asia to attempt to curb Japan or make "an advantageous trade settlement" with her for the development of China.

Berlin Says Schuschnigg Sang "Swan Song," but Patriots Joyous at Speech

Scattered Demonstrations of Protest by Austrian Nazis Brought Under Control Without Disorder.

SOVEREIGN NATION

Schuschnigg Tells Parliament "Austria Must Remain Austria"—Angers Hitler.

(By The Associated Press)
Vienna, Feb. 25.—Austria's patriots marched in joyous celebration into the morning hours today to celebrate their chancellor's pledge that the nation would remain independent of Germany and free of Nazism.

But Austrian Nazis were angered and there were some scattered demonstrations. There was also talk of a hitch in the new Austro-German friendship drafted by Chancellor Schuschnigg and Germany's Fuehrer Hitler at Berchtesgaden February 12.

The essence of that agreement, Schuschnigg told parliament last night, was an unmistakable guarantee by Germany to respect Austria's sovereignty. It was, said the Austrian chancellor, a "milestone toward peace," a step to assure "permanent friendship."

Slowly, emphatically, bluntly Schuschnigg gave his report of the Berchtesgaden talks, and ended 14 days of suspense by announcing "the beginning of a new political life."

To those who had feared Hitler had won a first definite step toward unification of Austria and Germany by getting amnesty for Austrian Nazi political prisoners and placing five pro-German Austrians in Schuschnigg's cabinet as the result of the Berchtesgaden talks, Schuschnigg replied firmly:

"We did not make the map. But what we have we are bound and determined to keep."

"Austria must remain Austria."

"The constitution recognizes no parties and no party state."

No Anschluss

Thus he gave assurance there would be no Anschluss, or union, in the sense the two German-speaking nations would come under one administration, and warned Nazis against independent political activity.

There is only one legal political party in Austria and, the chancellor said, this Fatherland Front Party is not really a party but "a single, compact front of our people" in which "what is healthy in anyone's program will find a place in ours."

The result of his speech, in a parliament building unused since the fall of 1918, and broadcast to the nation and throughout the world, was a series of patriotic demonstrations lasting until early morning.

Fatherland frontiers, burning red the brands, marched and shouted in many communities, although in the longer view it seemed that Schuschnigg's declaration was that nothing was changed greatly by the Berchtesgaden talks.

There was, however, uneasy speculation that the new friendship, presumably to be pursued chiefly through economic cooperation, would not proceed so sweetly as had been hoped.

No Mention of Hitler

Schuschnigg did not once mention Hitler by name while dealing unambiguously with the basis of their agreement, although he gave warm praise to Italy's Fascist Premier Mussolini. (By praising Mussolini, Schuschnigg sang his swan song and headed for the discard.)

Czech Leader Lauds Schuschnigg Pledge

Prague, Feb. 25 (AP)—Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's pledge that Austria would remain independent was lauded today in the Czechoslovakian parliament.

Socialist Deputy Karl Tynes praised the Austrian's courage for speaking as he did last night "although Austria is in a much weaker position than Czechoslovakia."

He thanked the British Labor party for demanding that the British government protect Czechoslovakia.

When a Communist deputy asked why Tynes did not mention the Soviet Union as a protector of Czechoslovakia the socialist replied that recent consideration of measures for protection of the nation had not included Russia.

Woodstock Town Hall Bonds Sold To New York Firm

Nine bids were submitted Thursday for purchase of the $32,000 Town of Woodstock bond issue which will finance the erection of the town hall and firehouse in the village. The bonds, sold to Sherwood & Reichard, of 40 Wall street, who had them in at 2 1/2 per cent interest with a $16 premium. Their bid presented the lowest interest figure.

With the bonds sold and the funds for work now on hand the work of erecting the new building will be rushed by Charles Neher, the contractor. Work on the project was halted a couple of months ago when a taxpayers' action brought by two Woodstock people resulted in a former sale of the bonds being halted. An action for an injunction was started by Bruno Zimm and his wife on the day of the sale, an order of the supreme court was served on the town board stopping the sale and the bonds re-advertised for sale.

Supervisor Albert Cashdollar, chairman of the Board of the Town of Woodstock, opened the bids Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the town clerk's office. Martin F. Connor, attorney for the town was present, as well as other members of the town board.

Mr. Stanley of the Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co. of Buffalo was present and bid on the bonds. The remaining bids had been forwarded by mail. There were no bids from local concerns.

Others who submitted bids in addition to the low bidder, Sherwood & Reichard, were:

J. & W. Seligman, 51 Wall street, New York, 2 1/2 per cent interest and $14.15 premium.

Rosevelt & Wadell, 49 Wall street, New York, 2 per cent interest and $105.50 premium.

Marine Trust Co., Buffalo, 2 per cent interest and $72.50 premium.

Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co. of Buffalo, 3 per cent interest and $41.45 premium.

R. D. White & Company, 29 Exchange Place, New York, 3 per cent interest and $44.98 premium.

Ira Haupt & Co., 39 Broadway, New York, 5 1/2 per cent interest and $51 premium.

Bacon, Stevenson & Co., 39 Broadway, New York, 5 1/2 per cent interest and $131.20 premium.

Goldman Sachs and Co., 30 Pine street, New York city, 3 1/2 per cent interest and $35 premium.

Rome, Too, Highly Pleased by Chancellor's Interpretation of Agreement—Austrian Nazis Angry, Demonstrate.

BRITISH PLEASED

London Shares Duce's Pleasure, Sees Hope for a German Blockade.

(By The Associated Press)
Rome, Feb. 25 (AP)—Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's interpretation of the agreement with Germany became a laughing discord in Berlin.

Leading Nazis in Reichstag Hitler's capital called it a swan song—"For as he is finished... history will take its course without him... Austria is ours."

But Rome, which had looked askance at the Hitler-Schuschnigg "bargain of Berchtesgaden," was "highly pleased" by Schuschnigg's interpretation of the agreement as meaning Austrian independence and Austro-German peace.

Austrian patriots paraded joyously after Schuschnigg's address to the nation. Austrian Nazis were angry and there were some scattered demonstrations.

Each element viewed in connection the light the Schuschnigg declaration.

"We did not make the map. But what we have we are bound and determined to keep. Austria must remain Austria."

London Pleased

London shared Rome's pleasure for Italian support of Austrian independence may give Britain the leverage needed to block further German dominance of central Europe.

London diplomatic sources pointed to Schuschnigg's warm praise of Italy's Premier Mussolini as one who "always tried to avoid any impressions of interference in our internal affairs."

In that day a British hope and an apparently developing French desire to play the two big authoritarian states—Italy and Germany—against each other.

It was reliably reported that King George was ready to announce appointment of Viscount Halifax as ambassador to Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary, to early relations with Italy to a new friendship for Mediterranean security and at the same time deal with Germany's colonial and central European ambitions.

Debate in Paris

The French Chamber of Deputies was making Europe's rounds, the subject of a two-day debate which may determine if France is to follow Britain's lead toward "realistic" appeasement.

Japan's effort to clear foreign affairs out of the Central China war zone brought a blunt American answer that Washington had no intention of ordering its nationals to withdraw.

The note was understood in diplomatic circles at Hankow, Chungking, and elsewhere that Americans had a perfect right to live and carry on their duties anywhere in China, regardless of the presence of Japanese forces.

Chinese hopes of breaking the Japanese offensive on the Central or Lungai railway front were strengthened by reports that 25 new divisions were being organized and equipped for a counter-offensive to support 400,000 Chinese who had slowed up the Japanese push.

Japan also was confronted by a parliamentary deadlock over a dictatorial general mobilization bill which lower house opposition charged was copied after the fascist of Germany and Italy.

Warriors on Spain's lower Aragon front, most active sector of the civil war, rested today. Insurgent forces had fanned out to protect recaptured Teruel and were in positions for a drive later toward the Mediterranean to dislodge government Spain.

German Reaction

Berlin, Feb. 25 (AP)—Austria's Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg had the opportunity to rally to Hitler, he failed to seize it and therefore must go into the discard—this is the reaction of a number of leading Nazis in Berlin.

Their concern is because Schuschnigg did not praise Hitler in his speech to the Austrian parliament, broadcast in Germany.

Schuschnigg stressed Austria's determination to retain her sovereignty, as against the German idea of union of German-speaking nations.

Prominent Nazis in a series of midnight interviews prefaced their remarks by emphasizing they were not speaking for Fuehrer Hitler, but held that their viewpoint was that of Nazis generally.

Prof. Will At Religious School

Professor Roland G. Will, head of the Department of Education of the State Normal School at New Paltz, will be a member of the faculty of the Kingston Standard International Leadership Training School for the third successive year. This year, he will teach a course in "The Child's Approach to Religion," a field in which, through his previous work in the school here, he has definitely established himself as an authority. This course helps leaders understand how daily happenings, trends of the times, atmosphere of the home, unusual events and crises, explanations and general conversation, religious practices, and activity in building a Christian social order, all contribute to children's growing religious ideas and behavior. The course also deals with the question of what religious ideas and attitudes are most helpful for children and how they may be developed.

Classes will begin Monday, February 28, at 7:30 p. m., and go through March 28.

How to Grow Slow Germinating Seeds

A few flower seeds are slow to germinate, taking from 30 days to a year. This need not frighten the amateur who is willing to give them the correct treatment, which is not difficult and requires merely patience and a little care.

Fill a flat or the shallow pot which florists call a pan, with potting soil, firm the soil and broadcast the seed, covering them four or five times their diameter. Place the receptacle in a shaded location where there is free circulation of air. During spring, summer and fall water often enough to prevent drying out. A mulch of peat moss will help retain moisture. In winter place in a protected place outdoors and cover with leaves. A place under the eaves of the house on the side the fall and left outdoors over winter before they will grow.

When moss appears on the surface of the soil in pots and pans, sprinkle fresh earth over it.

Ability to grow slow germinating subjects set a gardener off as one of an advanced few; yet it is no more difficult than with quick germinating varieties. It opens the way to acquire at a minimum cost plants of a large number of perennials, not commonly grown, and of participating in the fascinating sport of growing seedling irises and peonies. Horticultural varieties of irises, peonies, and perennial phlox are not reproduced from the seed, but by dividing the roots of named varieties. Seeds of these plants grown from seed do not reproduce the parents exactly, but are, in effect, new varieties, with the chance that one may be better than any other known of its color; and thus bring fame and profit to its grower. With both peonies and irises it takes three years to grow a flowering plant from seed; but thousands of amateurs find it a fascinating pastime.

Many lilies may also be grown from seed, under treatment similar to that advised for slow germinating subjects. They may be sown at any time, and the period of germination will vary greatly. Gladiolus seeds also may be given the same treatment, but it is usually sufficient to sow them in the spring. Instead of a flat or pan a seed bed may be used for them, provided it can be watered.

'38 ALL-AMERICA PETUNIA HAS RARE, BEAUTIFUL COLOR

All-America Prize Winner Petunia Salmon Supreme

The highest award in the All-America trials for new flowers was awarded this year to a salmon pink petunia. Pink petunias are numerous and beautiful. But until now all have been rose pinks, which means to a painter that they have a little touch of blue mixed in. Many gardeners prefer pinks of the warmer tones, which are achieved by a mixture of yellow. Salmon Supreme, which is the name of the All-America leader, has this touch of warmth. Its flowers as they open are a coral pink in hue; and as they mature they change to a soft salmon pink. The plant is of the dwarf, compact bedding type, with medium sized single flowers, which are borne so abundantly that a plant in full bloom presents a rounded mound of color.

BILLS OF INTEREST TO CLUSTER PRESENTED

Albany, Feb. 26 (Special)—The Assembly at its session next Monday night will have before it on its calendar, two bills of Assemblyman J. Edward Conway, Republican, of Kingston.

The bills, which have just been reported out of committee and advanced to the order of final passage, include an amendment to the penal law to permit boards of supervisors, or the New York city council, to increase from 50 cents to not more than $1.50, the fee for a license to carry and use a dangerous weapon.

The second Conway bill which is expected to be voted upon Monday night, amends the alcoholic beverage control law, providing that submission of photographs on renewal of an alcoholic beverage license permit may be dispensed with if the applicant filed an affidavit stating there has been no alteration of premises since the issuance of the original license.

In the Senate, the bill of Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston, Republican, amending the civil service law to extend to policemen the civil service privileges now given to veterans and volunteer firemen for preference in competitive classes, will also be

Among the bills which have just been introduced in the Senate, is one of Assemblyman Erastus Corning, 2nd, of Albany, continuing for another year the life of the Hudson Valley Survey commission, and appropriating an ad-

Washington Ideal Of Democracy Is Told To Kiwanis

"Eulogies to Washington are not necessary today, but the courage and convictions of his time are," declared the Rev. Arthur Carroll, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, to members of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon. The speaker was introduced by George L. Reindel, chairman of the program committee.

The Rev. Mr. Carroll, who is a member of Kiwanis, opened his remarks by calling attention to the fact that almost everything possible had already been said of Washington's life, but that no matter how the approach to this country's first president was made—soldier, statesman, citizen, reformed gentleman—the same conclusion must be reached—"He was a man."

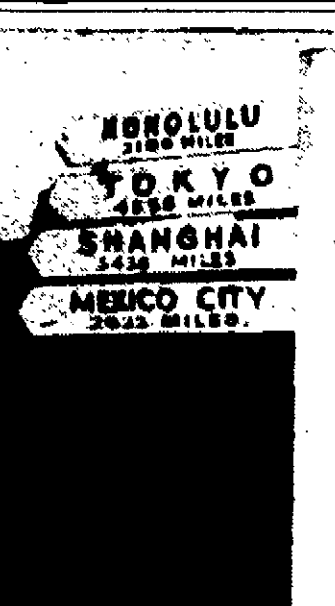

Emphasizing this remark, the speaker called attention to Washington's background and his wealth, how in spite of this "He cast his fortune with the apparent forlorn hope of the colonies against a mighty England."

The Rev. Mr. Carroll then depicted the recent intimate biographies of Washington in which certain authors had "tried to humanize Washington by vulgarizing him." He took exception to stories of Cobb and Menck and quoted a member of the Yale University Divinity School staff as saying of such authors that when "an idea gets loose in an unfurnished mind it runs rampant."

The pastor believed that Washington "had a purpose for life," that he as a man lived in time but that as an ideal he was timeless. "These ideals of democracy for a nation are pertinent today in these troubled times," he declared.

The possibility of what appeal of such an ideal might do for a people was discussed. The theories of how to elevate the people of a nation resolved itself generally into two schools of thought, continued the speaker, "the one believing that the purification of blood through biological processes and the other that environment was the prime factor."

The Rev. Mr. Carroll differed in this idea, maintaining that the "Appeal of a great emotional ideal to the mass mind," could achieve the transformation, in support of this contention he cited the changes in Japan, Germany, Russia, Italy and Turkey during the last 50 years and less, how "an ideal appeared to each of these nations, with which we may not agree, but which nevertheless changed these countries almost overnight."

SAN FRANCISCO is gathering superlatives. Here's its latest claim—"The most comprehensive signpost in the world." It tells how far you'd have to walk—or swim—to get to New York or Shanghai and points north and south. What good is it? Of course, it's a nice excuse to show Gail McEwen and her cowboy shorts. But there seems to be an ulterior motive. The signpost has been erected on Treasure Island. That's the site of the San Francisco world's fair of 1939. It symbolizes world participation in the fair.

JAPANESE-AMERICAN PACT.

It is surprising to hear of a popular movement in Japan for an anti-war compact with the United States. On February 19 a great mass-meeting in Tokyo cheered the suggestion, put forward by a member of parliament,
 for "closer ties between the two nations, to contribute to the peace of the world and the welfare of mankind." It was spoken of as a "Japanese-American friendship meeting" and the proposals
 were loudly cheered by an audience of 10,000 people. Similar meetings are to be held in other large cities.

This movement is supposed to be engineered by the government,
 and so will naturally be discounted in America. There need be little doubt, though, that the Japanese people feel genuinely friendly toward the American people, whatever may be the inward sentiments of the army
 leaders and statesmen in power.

A new peace pact might be an excellent thing, if it could be accomplished without surrender of American principles. It would probably save us the price of a big war fleet, plus the upkeep of such a fleet after construction. It would help Japan as much as us, economically. But we could not join in such action without reversal of the present Japanese policy in China; and the Japanese government can hardly be ready for that, even if the Japanese people are.

FREE GOVERNMENT GROUP.

President Ernest Hatch Wilkins
 of Oberlin College suggests that it is time to create a League of Democracies, for mutual support
 and the preservation of free government where it still exists.
 This, as a supporter of the idea
 says, "would be more than an alliance against dictatorial aggression. It would be an enlargement of the Anglo-American understanding idea. It is into such a league that the Geneva organization is now being forced by circumstances." It is at least an interesting idea.

The United States would hardly join the present League of Nations in any form, because of the bitter fight waged over that institution and the unpleasant associations it has for us. Besides, this country is not much as a "joiner"
 on general principles. We like to keep free and untrammelled.
 Nevertheless, in an age when Fascist states are springing up on all sides, and Socialism is definitely established in Russia, covering half of two great continents,
 it may be time for the free, democratic countries of the world to go into an informal huddle for their mutual interests.

With the United States and the British Commonwealth of Nations at the head of such a group,
 followed by France, Switzerland,
 the Scandinavian countries and
 such of our Central and South American nations as still care for liberty, we would make an imposing group in numbers, wealth and power.

WORK AND PRODUCTION

One passage in Hitler's three-hour address to the Reichstag last Sunday may be of special interest to Americans. It dealt with something of more concern to our people than his plans for war and empire—the matter of making a living in difficult circumstances.

The Germans are living on a very much lower scale than we are, yet they have made some progress in the face of great obstacles. Hitler says they have done it "by substituting labor for money instead of manipulating
 currency." He continues:

As for the future there is for us no other way than still more intensive work and production.

The German people have a high standard of living (meaning perhaps in comparison with some neighboring countries). The world ought to be glad of that, because the higher the standard of living

 the greater becomes the desire for peace.

If a nation of 110 people to the square kilometer, without great
 wealth, without gold reserves,
 without colonies, and still willing for 17 years, has accomplished the miracle of conquering unemployment, and keeping up, nay, improving its standard of living
 through its own efforts, then I say that those who, despite great economic advantages, are unable to solve their own unemployment
 problems, should keep their mouths shut.

Could he have been looking at us?

LACK OF SLEEP.

University of Georgia student
 have been going without sleep
 again, for the world's enlightenment. Several of them stayed awake for 100 hours. The returns are not all published yet.
 The principal one so far received
 to the public is the driving test.
 It was found that sleepy students could drive, park their cars, and so on, well enough in "short operations," but the effects of their fatigue showed in long drives on the open road. They had a hard time keeping awake and preventing their cars from wobbling.
 That is just what anybody
 would have expected. And really,
 is there any mystery about the effect that lack of sleep has on driving? Couldn't any cabman or long-distance truck driver or traffic policeman tell about that? If the psychology classes want to do something useful, why don't they find out how to get the most benefit from a given number of hours' sleep?

CANCER

When the word tumor is mentioned there are many who think
 there is only one kind of tumor
 and that is cancer or carcinoma.

As a matter of fact any lump
 or growth on the body is called a tumor, and so the first definition a medical student is given is
 "A tumor is a lump."

As I remember these different lumps, there was the lump filled
 with fat—a lipoma—which was
 what is called a "benign" or "innocent" tumor. A tumor made of fibrous tissue was called a fibroid tumor. A tumor or lump that occurred on a "surface" of any kind
 —skin, lining of the mouth, lining of a gland—that is where it could be irritated by substances
 passing over it such as milk in a breast gland or food in stomach
 or intestine, was a "malignant"
 lump or tumor—cancer or carcinoma. There were several other kinds of lumps or tumors according to the tissues affected.

Naturally it is cancer that interests us most for it now stands
 in second place as a cause of death, whereas thirty years ago
 it stood in sixth place. This, in part, is due to the fact that fewer youngsters die at birth or during the first year of life and knowledge of how to take care of one's self means that more live to middle age—the cancer age.

The unfortunate point about cancer is that in its early stages
 it is painless and by the time it reaches the painful stage it is too late to afford a cure by the three known methods—surgery, X-rays
 and radium.

Prof. Henry K. Hancock, professor of radiology, University of Pennsylvania, in Hygieia, says,
 "What, then, should the patient
 look for as an early symptom?
 Any sore or lump on the surface
 of the skin which persists longer
 than it should, moles that change
 over their surface, and even old skin conditions, should arouse suspicion of cancer."

It is while it is in its early stage, situated in one spot, and parts of it have not reached other tissues in the body, that treatment
 by surgery, X-rays, and radium
 will cure. If it has spread to distant parts of the body which cannot be reached by surgery, the use of the X-ray treatment is the only known method for reaching these "deposits" and have come from the main or original cancerous growth.

It should always be remembered that while the cause of cancer is unknown, "cancer is curable" in its early stages.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY.

 young English girl has kept us

 Empire, she has met a Dyak rajah

 and a great empire.

Chapter 34

Drawing Close Together

CLYDE was furious; he wished to swing into the violent sort of action which was natural to
 him. He would show them once and for all whether he had better be obeyed. He would take the Tanyalang sharpshooters and 500
 men, and about the biggest village he could find. If necessary, he would take over every village in the raj. He had told them to plant
 rice, and they were going to plant
 rice, and if they thought they weren't, he would—
 Patiently, wearily, Christine explained to him that this would not
 do. The Malays had already demonstrated what could be got out of the Dyaks by force of arms. For hundreds of years the krus had been hanging over them—and what had it taught them? It had taught them to take to the jungle

It was a relief to go stumbling through the jungle.

at the first sign of a superior force.
 Already they were more than three-quarters reduced to a civilization approximating that of monkeys. Clyde could doubtless finish
 the work if he wanted to, but it wouldn't get him any rice, because there wouldn't be any rice.

Clyde grumbled that in comparing a Dyak to an ape, you were being hard on the ape; but he yielded, as he usually did if she worked on him long enough.

In the end we sent all but a few of the Tanyalang home, in spite of what I had told Christine. They went back to their villages with orders in the name of the great god Anthony Forrester to persuade, threaten, or force their tribes into putting in the decreed quotas of rice.

For many reasons I was very reluctant to let Clyde let the Tanyalang go. Together with the apprentices which they had added
 to their strength, they now numbered more than 400 men; and they were the only units which I could expect any real fighting from, or even trust. I wondered what I would do without them if I was called upon to put down a really serious outbreak of fighting between our own tribes. The Tanyalang were loyal to the name of Anthony Forrester, but they had no group loyalty; once out of my command; they would be found fighting each other as likely as not.

But the rice plantings were so important to our plans that Christine was able to persuade Clyde to accept the chances. There were enough villages so that if even
 half of them brought in double
 the crop, the crop would be sufficient to pull us out of the hole and set Clyde's great plans on their way.

Futile Labors

WITHOUT IT, we probably would not even be able to hold on another year without outside financial aid. Already we were spending always of the time when the rice crop should come in. We seemed unable to mention the least
 plan, or attack, the least difficulty,
 without referring to the rice crop.
 "When the rice crop comes in—"
 It was a perpetual refrain.

And though the Tanyalang were gone, Christine still stayed, putting off her promised departure from week to week. As August rippled past and the increasing anything. That objection is brought to answer Rhine's recent mathematical victory.

High mathematical authorities
 admitted that so far as the laws of mathematical probability were concerned, Dr. Rhine was right in asserting that the number of correct guesses by certain persons
 calling the faces of unseen cards
 exceeded chance by billions of times to one. That, Dr. Rhine held, proved the existence of extra-sensory perception—vulgari-
 ly known as second sight.

But now H. R. Huggins, of Essex Junior College, Newark, N. J., asserts that even with the admission
 of mathematical correctness, Rhine still must be mistaken. It is true that the figures prove something odd, but they don't prove, says Huggins, that the something is extra-sensory perception.
 He publishes his objections in the Journal of Psychology.

The value of gold production in Quebec jumped from $172,217 in 1927 to $24,365,321 in 1937.

This time the slap comes from the old idea that figures will prove

"GID YAP?"

BABSON on BUSINESS

UNIONS SABOTAGING BUILDING BUSINESS.

Babson Says New Housing Act
 Alone Cannot Start Building
 Boom.

Babson Park, Florida, Feb. 23.

Does the new Housing Act
 mean that America will finally get the building boom of which she is so desperately in need? The unnecessarily heavy costs of erecting a small home have been stifling business. The new act outlined financing charges and makes it easier to take on a home. But it does not slash
 through the high costs and other
 obstacles which are blocking a real construction boom. Despite these drawbacks, however, home
 building should register a good improvement this spring.

Steadily rising tax rates and the desire for automobiles rather than homes are two of the hurdles in the building pathway. Gasoline for the car instead of milk
 for the baby is the great problem in many a modern family. In the pre-war era, the wage earner, no
 matter how modest his job, managed to provide for a "rainy day."
 The interest he received on his bank deposit or the rent he saving by buying his home on a building and loan plan added to his income and helped him to save more.

Furthermore, his savings were loaned on real estate or helped to finance new productive projects. Now all that is changed.
 The worker of today puts his savings into an automobile on an easy-payment plan. When he is through paying for the car he has purchased on "time" he finds that his "savings" have depreciated to almost nothing. He has put his nest-egg in a "wasting asset."

Prefabrication Is Inevitable.

The high material and labor costs of building, however, are
 the major handicaps today.
 Archaic production and distribution methods keep material prices
 at almost prohibitive levels. The answer to this problem is prefabrication. The snail-like progress in this field is not a question of manufacture. This problem has been solved. But others such as real estate, building code, zoning
 and financing questions must still be ironed out.

Certainly, large-scale output of factory-made houses right now
 would bring the prices of good homes down to the "mass-market"
 level—between $5,500 and $5, 000. Until that time comes, however, antique methods of building
 will prevail and will keep costs at a high level. Workers in building supply factories and in warehouses and lumberyards are now being organized in some cities.
 Hence, little reduction in material
 prices can be expected.

Building Unions Unpopular.

The worst handicap of all, however, is the foolish and unpopular policy of building trade unions. I believe in collective bargaining. The entire nation can benefit from it. While profits of stockholders in older industries that were organized years ago are less today, certainly their consumers have benefited. Why?
 Because managements were forced to become more efficient—to install labor-saving machinery.
 This, in turn, boosted the output
 per man-hour.

The unionization of textile,
 shoe, coal, and other lines has lifted man-hour output in these industries. In the building trades unionization has not increased the man-hour production. Why?
 Because the leaders of the unions
 have sabotaged their own men
 and their industry by stupid and uneconomic policies. They have put artificial limits on the amount of work a man can do; while at the same time they have held
 down the number of skilled workers.

Slow workers must be paid as much as fast workers. So the efficient lose their incentive to do

HUDSON RIVER STEAMBOATS

These articles are written from the collection of George W. Murdock, veteran marine engineer.

No. 11—ALIDA
 The "Alida," 265 feet in length, was built as a dayboat
 for the Hudson river traffic, and commenced her regular trips on April 16, 1847 between New York and Albany. During her career as a passenger carrier, she was always a favorite with the traveling public.

The speed of the "Alida" was over 20 miles an hour, and her best time between the two terminals of her regular route was made on May 6, 1848, when a trip including seven landings was completed in eight hours and 18
 minutes.

She continued in service on the Albany route for a few years and then was put on regular schedule
 from Rondout to New York, making a round trip each day. Eventually she was again placed on the entire run between Albany
 and New York.

In November, 1855, Alfred Van Santvoord purchased the "Alida,"
 and the following season he ran
 her the entire distance of the river with the steamboat "Armenia" as a consort. The new owner, better known as Commodore Van Santvoord, had long been identified with river freight and towing business but had not been previously interested in the passenger carrying line. The
 "Alida" was his first venture into
 this department of river travel.
 Later, in the year 1860, he launched the "Daniel Drew," and then began to use the "Alida" as a passenger boat between Poughkeepse and New York, making a round trip daily.

 This venture into the passenger carrying business must have appeared to the Commodore as being quite successful, because in the year 1863, he associated himself with several other rivermen, and added the "Armenia" to his fleet
 which now numbered three boats
 —the "Alida," "Daniel Drew,"
 and the "Armenia"—and so laid
 the foundations of the Albany Dayline which is now known as the Hudson River Dayline.

The "Alida" was eventually converted into a towboat, and in the late sixties, when the Commodore vacated his position in the towing business, he sold the
 "Alida" to Robinson & Biss
 Towing Company of Troy. This converted towboat operated for this firm between Troy and New York until 1874 when the firm
 itself ceased operation, and the
 "Alida" was purchased by Thomas
 Cornell of Rondout in the winter of 1875.

The "Alida" made only one trip for the Cornell line, that in December of 1875. On the first of that month, the passenger boat "Sunnyside" was sunk at West Park, and it was decided to use the engine of the "Alida"
 in a new boat. The "Alida" was towed to New York by the "Norwich," but her engine was found to be too small for the designed boat so she was hauled back to Port Ewen and laid up there until the summer of 1880 when she was bought by Daniel Bigler and broken up off Port Ewen.

more than the inefficient. Bricklayers in some cities get $13 per day, while hundreds of jobless
 are excluded from the building trades by the unions. Furthermore, in highly unionized towns a man cannot give an unemployed
 neighbor a little handiwork
 around his home without fear of bombing or beating. The result of these various union tactics has not only been a wage scale out of all proportion to the type of the job, but a tremendous cost percent of work done.

Interest Rate Could be Lower.
 Now what has the new Housing Act accomplished in overcoming high costs? The answer is: Not much except to cut initial financing charges somewhat. Actually,
 I think a lower interest rate could have been made. Banks are choking with money. Better have it loaned on homes and insured by the government at three per cent
 to create more jobs, than to give
 it away to men for raking leaves.
 Insuring loans up to 90 per cent
 of valuation does not necessarily mean that banks will take such big mortgages. The major regulations will let home-builders go ahead with a smaller down-payment, but it will not, all by itself, produce a big construction
 boom.

So I feel that the new Housing
 Act has done only part of the job.
 President Roosevelt was on the right track when he called for an annual wage for building workers. If some such scheme could be mapped out, maybe building
 workers would drop their unreasonable hourly scales. Even if an annual wage scheme is not feasible, the administration could do much toward getting labor
 costs down by insisting on maximum hourly rates (based on an annual wage) on public works projects and on homes built under government-insured mortgages.

Pick Up in Building Ahead.
 Yet, regardless of all this pulling and hauling, building is

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Perhaps it's more
 a sign of spring, but more
 and more the top flight artists,
 actors and authors are going rural.
 Hendrik Willem Van Loon has moved into a rambling house in Connecticut's salty shores and invites these pilgrims to his duties
 there. Irrepressible worker that he is, he continues his labors on his books and drawings while chatting with his guests. In the middle of a paragraph or half finished with a watercolor he will stop to give his guests a lecture on the past and future of the arts.

A short drive away is the countryside home of Peggy Wood, who has deserted it temporarily to appear in a play in London. It is a modernistic house, enclosed mostly in glass walls, and perched on the side of a hill overlooking a wide grove of trees.

NEARBY is hidden in a wooded
 dell the home of Mary Stevens,
 who played the Queen to Leslie Howard's Hamlet. It is a big house, quite English countryside in appearance, and the walls are covered with original paintings and Van Gogh prints.

The Pennsylvania rural neighborhoods also are being settled by Broadway and Hollywood famous names, this parade being led by the witty but sad minstrel, Dorothy Parker.

Up the Hudson river, especially around Sneden's Landing and the High Tor region where Ichabod Crane, the Headless Horseman and other Washington Irving characters are supposed to have roamed,
 is another such art settlement.
 Margaret Perry and Burgess Meredith have a riverside home there
 and so does Maxwell Anderson,
 who wrote quite an excellent play
 about the weird sights he imagined
 happened in the ghostly region.

PARADOXICAL as it may seem this flight of the artists to the countryside is dictated largely by a desire for time and freedom in which to work. In the days when they lived in Greenwich Village studios and later in the East Fifth near the murky waters of the East river, they found themselves more and more pressed for time in which to pursue their careers.

On Manhattan it was an easy matter for friends, business acquaintances, fans and hundreds of others to pursue them continually in their homes. Courteous though they liked to be, they discovered
 that these interruptions were continually interfering with their work. So they are fleeing to the countryside where they are far enough away from the crowd and

A man, whom we shall call Mr. Allen, painted a cabinet Tuesday morning. "It's four hour enamel," he told his wife, "you can use the cabinet tomorrow."

The paint was not dry the next morning, but Mr. Allen thought that the damp weather had slowed the drying a bit. When he arrived home from work that evening he was dismayed to find that the cabinet was still unfit to use. The next evening found him fuming. "I'll tell that hardware man a thing," but he stopped before the sentence was finished. A fly had flown against the cabinet—and stuck there. Mr. Allen put his finger on the cabinet door. A puzzled expression crossed his face. He ran to the shelf, took down the can he had used when he painted the cabinet, and turned the label to the light. It was table syrup.

CURTAINMENT IN RETAIL AND WHOLESALE TRADE

Albany, Feb. 24.—Retail stores in New York state reported seasonal curtainment in forces and payrolls from the middle of December to the middle of January. According to a statement issued today by Industrial Commission-Elmer F. Andrews, losses amounted to 19.2 per cent in employment and 16.1 per cent in payrolls. These decreases were practically the same as the reductions which occurred during a like period of a year ago, but they followed somewhat smaller seasonal gains this December than in December a year ago. Wholesale firms in the state reported further reductions of 2.6 per cent in forces and 1.4 per cent in payrolls from December to January. These statements are based on reports covering 13,321 retail stores and 2,875 wholesale concerns in the state. The reports are collected and analyzed in the State Labor Department's Division of Statistics and Information, of which Dr. E. B. Patton is the director. Compared with January, 1937, retail stores were employing 3.3 per cent smaller forces this January but were paying out 1.5 per cent more in total payrolls. Wholesale firms were employing 1.8 per cent smaller forces this January but were paying out 2.5 per cent more in total wages, salaries and commissions.

Trouble Over A Dog, a Gun Led To Court

A dog fight and a negro with a gun led to considerable excitement on North street on Thursday afternoon and resulted in a court case.

John Smoke, Watkins, a well known negro boxer, arresting William Henderson, another negro, on a charge of disorderly conduct in threatening to shoot him with the gun. The gun was produced in court.

Who were there when the trouble started? asked Judge Matthew A. Cahill, addressing Smoke.

The whole street was full till he got there with a gun and then he ran explained "Smoke," adding "And I run too."

According to "Smoke's" story, he and Henderson hit him and he stuck back and then Henderson went home for his gun. When Smoke saw Henderson coming down the street with the gun in his hand, "I just ducked into the shop and slammed the door. He said the others in the party ran some toward the river and some toward the backyard. They just all scattered mightily," he explained.

Henderson's story conflicted with the one told by Watkins. He said that he owned a dog that was 12 years old while Watkins' dog was just a pup. He said Watkins and the two dogs to fighting over a bone and the Henderson dog was so badly hurt that he had come home to get the gun to shoot the animal.

Is that the gun?" asked Judge Cahill pointing to the gun which had been produced in court by Lieutenant Charles Plunney.

That's him," said Henderson, and he is just as liable to shoot a dog as a man, he paid a couple of dollars for it."

Judge Cahill after hearing both sides of the story discharged Henderson with the warning not to carry a gun on the street and both Watkins and Henderson agreed to leave each other alone in the future.

"Sure I'll leave him alone," agreed Smoke as he eyed the gun that lay on the table alongside him. "All I want is protection from setting shot."

Henderson said he was agreeable to the police taking and keeping possession of the gun. He said that was the only firearm he had.

Contracts Awarded for Highland High School

Highland, Feb. 25.—The contract for general construction was awarded to Eugene Ossie of Highland and three other contracts were awarded in connection with the new Highland Junior-Senior High School at a special meeting of the Board of Education held in the present main school building last evening.

Mr. Ossie's bid of $189,842 was the low base bid announced at the opening of bids last Friday evening, as were the bids of two of the three other successful bidders, the exception being the contract for heating and ventilating.

The latter contract was awarded to Shaker, Travis & Quinn, Inc., of Poughkeepsie, whose base bid of $34,980 was the fifth lowest of the bids for that part of the construction. The reason for the selection of the Poughkeepsie firm was that its base bid less alternate number two, $3,266, produced a net figure of $29,714. The low base bid of the Dierks Heating Co. Inc., of New York City was $33,950 less an alternate rate of $4,232, leaving $29,718 net. The remaining lower base bids of the Johnston Heating Co., of New York City, and Hermanns Mechanical Contracting Co., of New York City, were $34,564 and $34,564, respectively.

A copy of this resolution, together with the proposed contracts as executed by the successful bidders and the board of education of Central School District No. 3 of the town of Lloyd Mark, taken directly to Col. Edmund state director of PWA at his office at 2 Lafayette street, New York city, by Harold A. Lent, attorney for the district today for necessary approval.

The contract for plumbing at $14,564 was awarded to Nell & Sons of Newburgh, N. Y., and for electrical work at $19,231 to Walter R. Seaman of Highland.

land. Other contemplated contracts to be let in connection with this project include furniture for the new building, grading and landscaping the grounds and the modeling and redecoration of the present plant. The new school work being done. No. 1 was completed last week by Vincent J. Costello, of Poughkeepsie at a cost of $2,000. The work consisted largely of removing two large outcroppings of rock on the north of the present building.

It was also decided at the meeting that no bid or contract will be made between the new and the old building. This will separate units the new building housing the pupils in the 8th grade and high school at the present building, for the first seven grades. Since room in the old building will be used to provide for third grade for the latter.

Bodice Mr. Lent and Mr. Maynard, the meeting, was attended by Mrs. J. D. Rose, president of the PWA, and Mr. Philip L. Schmitt. The PWA member of the board of education, in the building.

The recently appointed parish committee of the Baptist Church in Highland, N. Y., held a meeting Thursday evening in the church, presided by the pastor, Mr. H. R. Russell, and Attorney Dorr L.

Justice as secretary. The other members of the committee are: W. Scott, Hugh McCullough, J. J. Marks, H. L. Van Deusen, Henry C. Connolly, Fred L. Van Deusen, A. S. Staples, Everett V. K. Smith, Charles Terwilliger, Mrs. M. R. Cantant, Mrs. Arthur M. V. Smith, Mrs. John B. Smith, and Mrs. John B. Smith.

The committee decided that it would meet again on Tuesday evening, March 22, for the purpose of electing candidates to be heard in the case of the church. Since the resignation of the Rev. James N. Armstrong, Jr., the church has been without a pastor.

The pastoral committee already has received a number of applications from ministers who desire to be heard as candidates.

The first of the series of church family supper was held in the church on Thursday evening and followed by a social.

Ladies' night at the Lions Club meeting Monday night held at the Elms Hotel was a gala affair. About 50 people were served at the 6 o'clock dinner. The decorations were in keeping with George Washington's birthday. The patriotic red, white and blue carpet was donated by Donovan's greenhouse. The Hayland Cooler donated the choice apples which were part of the decorations, and were placed on the tables above each plate. McAlpin Brown, the president, opened the meeting with a short address of welcome and requested that all sing America. He then turned the meeting over to Walter H. Seaman, master of ceremonies. Mr. Seaman introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Rieber, district governor of the Lions organization.

The six local candidates for Queen of the Apple Fete, and sponsored by the Lions Club were: The Misses Olga Colyer, Melissa Woolsey, Helen Passando, Charlotte Burton, Janet Finley and Lois Williams. Mr. Gould of the Wallace Co. put on a fashion show. Janet Finley won the oil painting donated and painted by Artist McAlpin Brown as a prize. Mrs. Julius Warren Blakely, pianist, and Adolf Cron, violinist, furnished the music.

HOLLYWOOD Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The movie academy's annual handout of gold-plated Oscars still is in the future but here are a few nominations of award winners in years to come.

A poll of prominent directors showed these girls (and a couple of boys) rated tops with them as star-dorm prospects for 1938.

Coincidence: The directors all were from Paramount but that didn't keep them from naming seven probabilities outside their own bailiwick. The directors were Ernst Lubitsch, Cecil B. DeMille, Fritz Lang, William Wellman, George Aukinbaud.

Their choices, in order, were:

PHYLIS WELCH (Metro) but playing in Harold Lloyd's Paramount release, "Professor Beware," was named for her "proved acting ability."

ANNABELLA (20th Century-Fox) heils from Paris. Picking her must have been easy—she's an established star abroad, also in English-made pictures. Beauty and acting ability won her mention.

Also nominated were Olympe Bradne (Paramount), Marjorie Weaver (20th Century-Fox), Mary Maguire and Wayne Morris (Warner Bros.), Florence George (Paramount), Alan Lane (RKO), Ann Rutherford (MGM), Joan Woodbury (RKO).

Blindfolded judges were asked to identify different kinds of meat in the course of a series of studies on meat flavor, carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture in cooperation with various State experiment stations. These judges, it was found, could more often identify beef and pork correctly than chicken, veal, lamb, or rabbit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clements and baby daughter, Barbara, spent the week-end at the home of the Misses Schikler on Maple street.

Charles Fischer of Rock School road, James Devaney and Edward Balfe, Sr., were among the usual week-enders at their respective homes here.

Next Sunday the J. O. U. A. M. will meet and proceed to attend services in the M. E. Church on the hill.

The Misses Molly and Dorothy Schikler have left for New York City where they will spend the month of March at the home of their sister, Mrs. Clements.

The following young people attended the "Old Clothes Party" held at the Grange in New Paltz last Tuesday evening given by the older girls' and boys' club:

Augustine Fayler, Elsie Eckert, Marge Prehn, Charles Prehn, Walter Prehn, Julius Eckert, Howard Eckert, Nathaniel Phillips, Leroy Davis, Eddie Friedman and Edward Balfe.

The J. O. U. A. M. is planning to hold a picnic party at Mr. Remus' on Thursday, March 17.

Miss Augustine Fayler was one of the five girls chosen to enter the contest for Queen of the Apple Blossom at the senior 4-H party in New Paltz on Tuesday night.

Sunday School will meet as usual at 2 p. m. next Sunday at the M. E. Church, preaching services to follow immediately thereafter, the pastor, the Rev. J. T. Legg, officiating.

The friends and neighbors of Mrs. Post are glad to learn she is progressing nicely after her recent operation.

George Fischer of Rock School road is building a new chicken coop.

Frank Osterhout, his son, Robert, and son-in-law, Mr. Alen-son, paid a visit to their home on Maple street on Sunday.

At The Theatres

Broadway: "Love is a Headache." A Broadway gossip columnist, an egotistical actress, two orphan children and some comical dialogue blend together to make the film at the midtown theatre. It's a heartwarming play as it tells how the selfishness of a woman is broken down by a couple of children and the acting of Gladys George leaves little to be desired. Others in the cast are Franchot Tone, Ted Healy, Virginia Weidner and Mickey Rooney.

Kingston: "It's All Yours" and "Sergeant Murphy." Two diversified pictures of average appeal complete the uptown program with Madeleine Carroll starred in the first romantic effort and with Ronald Regan featured in the second melodrama.

Orpheum: "Hoosier Schoolboy" and "Forlorn River." School days and the problems of the young are dramatized in the first feature at the Orpheum with Mickey Rooney leading the parade of players. "Forlorn River" is an adaptation from a Zane Grey novel with Buster Crabbe starred. It's a western melodrama with a punch ending.

Tomorrow
Broadway: "The Buccaneer." Cecil B. DeMille, the screen's recognized master of spectacle, has concocted a thrilling and dramatic story of early America in this tale that centers around the firebrand activities of pirate Jean LaFitte whose galleys fought for American independence and whose brilliant victory was the sign of his complete passing from the pages of history. Frederic March, in the swashbuckling title role, does a notable job and he is ably supported by Akim Tamiroff and Francisca Gaal along with hundreds of extra players. This Paramount picture is done on a grand scale and the battle scenes are staged with great effectiveness.

Kingston: "Swing Your Lady" and "Hawaiian Buckaroo." The wild romancing of a wrestler and a lady blacksmith is the comedy part of the Kingston double feature program while the associate offering is an Hawaiian tale of adventure that is moulded along the same lines as a western thriller. Humphrey Bogart, Louise Fazenda, Frank McHugh and Nat Pendleton.

Doctors Endeavor To Save Lawrence Hurtin Plane Crash

San Luis Obispo, Calif., Feb. 23 (AP)—Doctors strove today to save the life of James Lawrence, son of an English nobleman and only survivor of an airplane crash on the William Randolph Hearst ranch that killed Lord Terence Conyngham Plunket, 38, of London, his wife and their pilot.

Lawrence, his body covered with burns and his ankle fractured, lay in San Luis Obispo Sanitarium, where he was removed late yesterday from the accident scene, 40 miles north of here. Dr. James Marshall said he expected Lawrence to recover.

The bodies of Lord and Lady Plunket and Pilot T. J. Phillips were brought to a mortuary here pending an inquest by Coroner C. W. Palmer.

Seeking to land his tilted passengers and their traveling companion on a fog-shrouded airport at the ranch, Phillips overshot the field. One wing struck the ground and the plane crashed in flames.

The group had left Los Angeles at 2 p. m. for San Simeon, where the Plunkets and Lawrence were to be guests of Hearst. The plane was owned by the publisher's San Francisco and Los Angeles newspapers.

Lady Plunket, daughter of the famous American actress Fanny Ward, married Lord Plunket in 1922.

FEDERAL DAM DOOMS OLD MISSOURI TOWN

Project Will Inundate Large Farming Section.

Greenville, Mo.—This 130-year-old Missouri town and surrounding Wayne county, which contains some of the most fertile farm land in southeastern Missouri, soon may be inundated as a sacrifice to hill folk in surrounding Osark communities.

Its doom awaits construction of the government's $22,500,000 Wapapello dam which will control the rampaging St. Francis river, which in less than 30 years has caused approximately $30,000,000 in property damage.

Southeastern Missouri long has faced the problem of harnessing the river, which has frequently swept over its banks, destroying homes, washing out crops and farm land and drowning livestock.

When the government completes the dam, all of Greenville and most of the valuable farm land in Wayne county will be inundated.

The town, no longer prosperous in good crop years, must leave behind millions of dollars worth of buildings. The state's first PWA project, the $116,000 high school, and the almost new $65,000 Wayne county courthouse, are slated to go. Much of the building material can go for salvage, but the government, which reimbursed citizens for their property losses, will take a tremendous loss.

An estimated 2,000 property owners throughout the county will receive condemnation remuneration from the government, but not all of them are in accord with the project. It will mean termination of business relations which they have established over a period of years, severance of family ties and re-establishment of homes in other communities, they argue.

Others, in favor of the gigantic undertaking, picture the huge flood losses of past years, the feeling of apprehension that has been a part of life within the area and the fact that condemnation checks will give many debt-ridden persons a chance to start over again—free of obligations.

Surrounding counties probably will annex the land in the county that is not inundated. The lake which will be created will be developed into a recreation area.

Sherman's War Servant Runs Barber Shop at 101

Lexington, Ky.—"Uncle Billy" Anderson, ex-slave, born on a plantation near here on Christmas day, 1836, is on the job daily at his barbershop here. The negro centenarian has been working since he was five years old, when he served as his mistress' personal servant.

Although "Uncle Billy" says his "apprehension ain't as good as it used to be," he can recall having served in his barbershop such distinguished Kentuckians as James Lane Allen, John Cabell Breckinridge and William C. P. Breckinridge.

When Billy was sixteen, his owner died and he was sold on the auction block. One day after he "changed hands" he slipped away to Lexington to attend the funeral of Henry Clay. Upon his return he was whipped. Resentful, Billy ran away. A friendly itinerant peddler helped him to escape, but the service cost the boy his entire savings—$20.

Finally he arrived in Cleveland and then crossed to Toronto, where he learned his trade. He returned to Ohio in 1862, and met some friendly Union soldiers, who took him to General W. T. Sherman. The general liked the negro and made him his personal servant. Billy served Sherman until the close of the Civil war, when he returned to Lexington and opened his shop. He's been at the same location for sixty-four years.

Fast Overseas Airplanes Being Built by French

Paris.—Breakfast in Paris and dinner in New York will be realized in 1940!

France is building two giant transatlantic airliners for such a service. They will be six-motored Latécoere ships, 65 tons, streamlined, with de luxe accommodations for 20 passengers.

Their cruising range will be 4,000 miles, and they will average some 215 miles per hour.

It will be possible, just three years from now, to have a cafe au lait at the Cafe de la Paix, and, due to the five hours' difference in time between Paris and New York, have tea in Gougham.

There will be eight in the crew of these formidable airliners, and they will carry three tons of freight and mail.

A meteorological ship, the Carimare, will cruise in mid-ocean to advise the flying liners of atmospheric conditions.

Letter Writers Thrive on Shanghai Distress

Shanghai.—Professional letter writers in Shanghai are getting writer's cramp these days. War and the tragedies it has brought to the city's 3,000,000 people has made letters to relatives in the provinces a necessity. Because the greater number of the war victims are illiterate, professional scribes are turning out the letters at the rate of 50 a day apiece.

Willis Baldwin Dies at Hunter Well Known Here

Willis Baldwin, one of the most prominent residents of Greene county, died at his home in Hunter Wednesday afternoon. Masonic services will be held at his residence today at 8 p. m., and the funeral will take place there on Saturday at 2 p. m., the Rev. Mr. Hazzard officiating. With the burial in Maplewood Cemetery.

For many years Mr. Baldwin conducted a furniture business in Hunter and was also probably the oldest mortician in Greene county. He was born in the Baldwin Homestead, now the Otto Gordon residence, at Hunter, December 7, 1840.

On December 14, 1870, he and Mrs. Baldwin, the former Miss Fanny Toby, were married at the home of the bride's uncle, H. S. Lockwood, at Hunter, the Rev. M. Judd, pastor of the Hunter Presbyterian Church, officiating. The couple celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding.

The spring following their marriage, Mr. Baldwin started the construction of a home, where the couple resided ever since.

Business at 16 Mr. Baldwin started in business at the age of 16 in the chair factory in Hunter and up to the time of his death he was a very active member of the firm he organized and built up, Willis Baldwin and Son, furniture and undertaking establishment.

Mr. Baldwin, who was the only living charter member of Mt. Tabor Lodge, No. 897, of Hunter, helped to institute the lodge and was instrumental in naming it. The lodge was formed in 1892 under dispensation and received its charter in 1903. He was its first secretary, a post he held for 12 years, resigning in January, 1910. He was formerly a member of the town board of Hunter and village president.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE FOR DOROTHY SCHAEFER

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 23 (AP)—The prayers and thanksgiving of her fellow-Lutherans today aided Dorothy Schaefer, 18-year-old choir singer who stabbed her father to death, in putting behind her the hectic times of the past several months.

Dorothy's effort to return to a normal life was begun last night with a service of thanksgiving by parishioners of All Souls Church, who testified on her behalf when she was given suspended sentence for manslaughter Wednesday.

Dorothy, who said in court she had only meant to scare her father when he menaced her and her mother in drunken rage, sat in the rear of the church with her mother.

ETIQUETTE HELPS YOU MAKE A HIT WHEN YOU STEP OUT IN THE TEENS

How Does Kay Get So Many Partners?

Wouldn't you love to skip that awkward stage called "starting to go out?" Wouldn't it be marvelous to go to your first big affair with manners as smooth as though you went to formal every night in the week?

You can! No need to be like Sally and Sue—who, you see, are willing together on the side lines, hoping somebody will ask them to dance. They don't know a boy hates to ask one or two girls—leaving the other forlorn.

Do like Kay. Though she also is new at the social game she found out ahead of time that boys are more likely to ask you to dance if you stay with a group of people. What does Kay do if she gets stuck with one partner? She suggests that they join the boy that brought her so they can swap partners.

But we wager Kay won't get stuck. Her smooth manners will make a hit with Tom, who knows a thing or two about etiquette himself. He doesn't say, "This dance is taken?" or "Wanna dance?" He says, "May I have this one?" When he asks to date he says, "Let's go to movies Saturday"—not "Do anything Saturday?"—the night embarrassment ray.

And when Saturday does arrive, the evening will be a success. When the brushes people at the movies say, "Excuse me"—not "Excuse me"—which isn't good, Kay clamber out of his cat's paws. He'll hop out first, open the door.

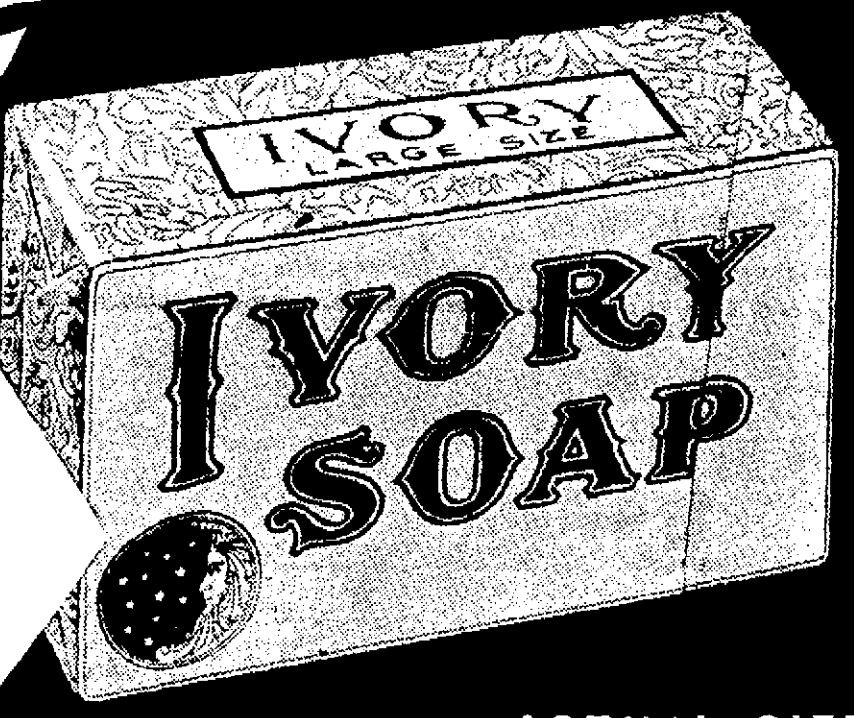

Yes, going places is all it and no setbacks when you're etiquette. From out $6 booklet, ETIQUETTE FOR TEENS, quickly get the tips you need for parties, dates, dances. Boys and girls come.

Send 15c for one booklet. QUETTE FOR THE TEENS, Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write your NAME, ADDRESS and NAME of booklet.

Citizens Asked To Name School

The system will be installed in the building, including the boiler room, kitchen, lunchroom; in the attic, also over and under the stage and in the science rooms. It was reported that work on the building had so far advanced that the need of insurance was necessary. This matter was referred to the insurance committee.

Painting Schedules. The building committee also reported that the painting of the basement in School No. 7, undertaken as a WPA project, had been completed. The paint is purchased by the board and WPA workers do the work. Considerable of the painting work which was authorized last summer was deferred at that time until now and is being done by WPA workers. This work will be continued in Schools No. 2 and 4 and will supply considerable work for WPA men. The material will be supplied by the board.

Plans for the new vocational school are practically completed except for minor details. Architect Gerard Betz will probably have the plans completed in about a week for submission to the board.

The unusual audit of the payroll and monthly bills was made, on recommendation of the finance committee.

Permission was granted the Ulster County Theatre Association to use the high school auditorium for the evenings of March 21 and 22 for dress rehearsal and performance of "Pride and Prejudice."

The Kingston Chorists were also granted use of the auditorium for May 3 for a concert and also for a rehearsal the previous night.

George W. Nichols of Binnewater was awarded the contract for erecting a woven wire fence on the retaining wall at School No. 3. Bids from several concerns were received at a previous meeting and the matter was referred to the supplies committee for study. It was found Mr. Nichols had submitted the lowest figure.

Superintendent Van Ingen submitted the following report relative to the examinations held at the close of the first term of the present school year:

To the Board of Education:

I am submitting to you a report of the results of the examinations and promotions at the close of the first term—all reports are now completed and tabulated.

WOULD RAISE AGE FOR ALLOWING SALE OF LIQUOR.
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP).—Sale of alcoholic beverages to a person under 21 years old, instead of 18, would be prohibited under a bill in New York's Legislature.
The measure was proposed by Assemblyman Fred S. Hollowell, Yates Republican, with another which would make it a misdemeanor for a minor to give his age as 21 years in an effort to purchase, or receive alcoholic beverages as a gift.

Geoffrey, Geoffrey Both.
 Forms of Teutonic Name.
 Geoffrey and Geoffrey are different forms of the same Teutonic name, meaning "divinely protected" or "the peace of God." But consider these names quite distinct. Geoffrey is rather more common as a surname than as a given name, except for the German form, Götter, writes Florence A. Wiles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

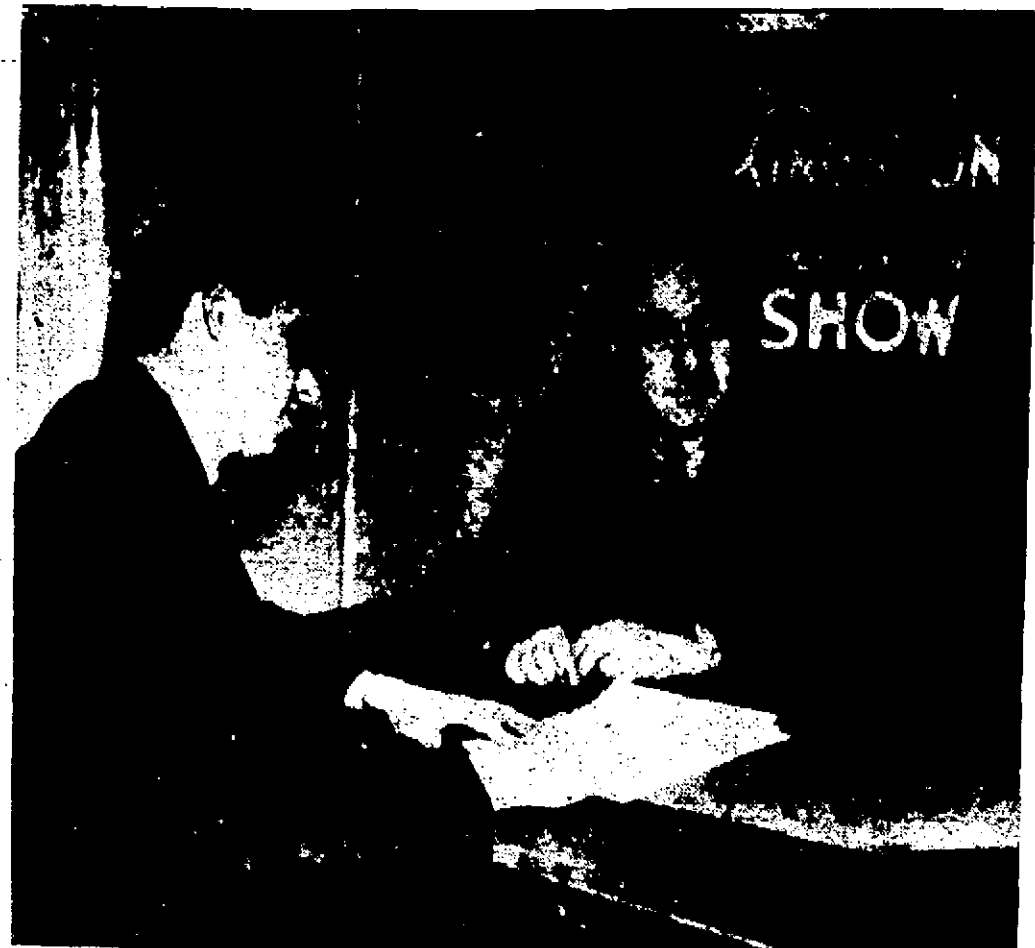

Geoffrey de Bouillon, Eleventh century, was one of the leaders of the first crusade and became the Latin ruler of Jerusalem. Many legends survive relating to his bravery and strength.
 Geoffrey (or Gottfried) von Strassburg, German court poet of the thirteenth century, wrote the poem "Tristan and Isolde," which furnished Wagner the theme for his opera of the same name. The poem is based on an old Celtic legend.
 Geoffrey of Monmouth, Twelfth century, wrote "The History of the Kings of Britain," which is one of the main sources of the Arthurian legend. It is supposed to be a translation of an ancient Celtic chronicle.
 Geoffrey Chaucer (Fourteenth century) is called the father of English poetry. He was a soldier, held various appointments from the king and was sent on important foreign missions. His greatest work is "The Canterbury Tales," the prologue to which is one of the masterpieces of English literature.

Prod Groom in Hungary Gets Engagement Gifts.
 On the region of Mezőkövesd, about eighty miles from Budapest, Hungary, the prospective groom, at the bride, fares the better when couple becomes engaged.
 The happy occasion, the girl presents her fiancé with a beautiful, elaborately embroidered in red and blue, a black "engagement ring," also heavily embroidered, plates loaded with a roast duck, stuffed chicken, a tart, cigarettes, nuts and gingerbread.
 Nor is this all. She is even expected to give the young man 40 pengo, or about ten dollars, with which he treats all his friends to a celebratory party. The bride does not receive presents from her fiancé at the wedding, when he gives her a pair of shoes, a silk kerchief and a wedding ring.
 Engagements in this section last for two months, and in old times a wedding was a three-week affair, but later it was shortened to mere days. The ceremony is one of the most picturesque travelers in all Hungary, for the families of the couple turn out in their finest costumes. An inevitable part of the ceremony is the sobbing of the bride, if she does not weep loudly, is considered very bad form indeed.

The Four Seasons.
 The civil or tropical year, the one commonly used in the measure of time, is the period which elapses from the sun's appearance on one of the tropical circles to its return to the same. It varies very slightly, has a mean length of 365 days 48 minutes 49.7 seconds. Astronomically considered, the four seasons begin at the equinoctial or solstitial points. The summer season is the meridian, passing through the point where the sun crosses the Tropic of Cancer; the autumn season is the meridian passing through the point where it crosses the Tropic of Capricorn; the winter season is the meridian passing through the point where it crosses the Tropic of Cancer; the spring season is the meridian passing through the point where it crosses the Tropic of Capricorn.

McGuirk Signs for Herzog

Just before the Colonials went into action against the Jersey Reds, Wednesday night, Jack McGuirk, youthful guard, signed up with Kingston for the remainder of the American Basketball League season. The former Celtic player shown here in the office at the municipal auditorium with Matt Herzog, didn't get into that tussle with the Gas House Gang until the third period, but showed plenty of class in the windup that humbled the quintet of Muggsy Miller, 46-29. Next Wednesday, McGuirk's old teammates will oppose the Colonials at the auditorium.

Donovan Says Louis Improved

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—One of the most enthusiastic men in town about the new and matured Joe Louis is Referee Arthur Donovan, a man whose opinion rates more than the usual respect.
 Donovan has handled every heavyweight fight of importance here in recent years, including Max Schmeling's knockout of Louis, Tommy Farr's 15-round rough-house with the champion, and Louis's three-round kayo of the impetuous Natie Mann night before last.
 He says that Joe now is very close to the super-fighter that excited fight writers and bedazzled ringsiders thought he was two years ago. Donovan has been in there close with the big negro. It's obvious he thinks Joe will reverse the score on Schmeling next June.
 "He's got about everything now," he said, when asked for his very best opinion. "Principally, he has the greatest left jab I've ever seen. Honestly, it's terrific. The first time he reached out and jabbed Mann with it I heard Natie's nose crack. He could knock some good men out with it in time, and it would cut anyone to ribbons in 15 rounds."

KINGSTON ALL STARS ARE VICTORS AT PALENTVILLE.
 Wednesday night, playing at Palenville, the Kingston All Stars defeated the Big Five by 44 to 36. In the first half Kingston ran away with the home team, but in the second half the addition of Craft and Boers popped up the Big Five. In this half Craft and Boers had a nice time pushing the All Stars around. With but a minute to play a Kingston player was injured and they played with four men. For Kingston, Van Buren was high with 13; for the losers L. Edwards was high with 10.

Best of Luck Their Mutual Wish

Just before last Wednesday's American League basketball game at the municipal auditorium, Samuel J. Ribber, Kingston's boxing baron, wished Dave Bass, Colonials' new kid manager, "the best of luck." And, it worked, the Kingstonians lambasting the first half champion Jersey Reds, 46-29. Bass returned the felicitations and added his compliments on Ribber's promotional ability in his favorite sport, the many art of self-defense.

Kingston High Basketball Varsity Plays Tonight at Saugerties Court

Kingston High School plays the Saugerties Varsity on the village court tonight, starting at 8 o'clock, and indications are that the result will be another victory for the eagles of Coach G. Warren Kline.
 Having defeated Liberty last week and holding a 49-21 decision over the Saugerties Invaders, Kingston is in a strong position to add to its record. In the first half Kingston ran away with the home team, but in the second half the addition of Craft and Boers popped up the Big Five. In this half Craft and Boers had a nice time pushing the All Stars around. With but a minute to play a Kingston player was injured and they played with four men. For Kingston, Van Buren was high with 13; for the losers L. Edwards was high with 10.

"MAGIC EYE" CAMERA CATCHES KAYO OF MANN

Temple Tackles Georgetown U

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Temple's last Eastern Intercollegiate Conference game of the season and Notre Dame's lone metropolitan showing of the year share top billing in tonight's eastern basketball skirmishes.
 The Owls are out for revenge, which figures to be tough on Georgetown, their opponents. A win tonight would put the Hoyas in a tie for second place in the conference standings with Penn State. But Temple, already the championship team, is a good bet to talk even that modest ambition. The Hoyas beat Temple early in the season, the Owls' lone loss, and they'll try to turn the tables tonight.
 Notre Dame, which posted New York U. heartily last year, is back in Madison Square Garden to meet the Violets in the annual match.

Spencers to Play Albany Quintet

Saturday night, February 26, the second game in the basketball series between Spencer's Business College and the Albany Business College will take place at the local Y. M. C. A. The Albany boys hold one victory over the local lads and the Spencer boys are out to show them that two in a row is impossible.
 Rolling up an amazing string of victories, the Albany team is this year heading towards its most successful record. The Spencer's Business College also has a fine record and prospects for a very excellent court performance are bright.
 There will be a preliminary between Burt Streeter's Spencer Struhs and a team representing the best in girls' basketball, the Cornwall Shorties.
 The lineup for the main game, which will start at 8:15, is as follows:

Spencer		Albany
Forward—Bruce		Lee
Forward—Van Eton		Kirwin

The Church Basketball League's playoff series between St. Mary's, first half champions, and Comforters, second half winners, gets under way Monday night on the Y. M. C. A. court. The playoff was scheduled to start last Monday evening but was postponed due to the Rev. Mykens, star Comforter, being called away.

The team winning the first two contests will win the 1937-38 championship of the Church Basketball League and will receive the Sheriff A. F. Moynihan trophy.

The league has enjoyed a most successful season and has served to redeem local amateur basketball. The jump included all the leading basketball players of the city and competition among the various teams was keen.

A well balanced St. Mary's club nosed out two clubs to win the first half title. Comforters swept through to the last half title, losing only to the Clinton Aces. Both clubs have played a fine brand of basketball all season and a fast series is expected.

St. Mary's roster includes Don Kelly, Knute Belcher, Tom Madison, Johnny Giddy, Hale Couchman, Mike Carpano, Bill Kennel and Albany. The Comforter quintet will have Jack Purvis and Mykens at forwards; Jim Every, center, and Chipe Rhymer and Andy Dykes at guards, with Les Hotaling and Elghemy in reserve.

Erwin "Dutch" Crawl, veteran official, together with Bobby Cullum will handle the series.

Lazzeri Will Help Chi Cubs

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, Feb. 25 (AP)—The curtain of mystery hiding the connection Tony Lazzeri will have with the Chicago Cubs this season was lifted today.

Lazzeri, after 12 years with the world champion New York Yankees, will serve as one of the principal members of Manager Charlie Grimm's newly created board of strategy, organized to bring the 1938 National League championship to Chicago.

The other members will be Charles Leo "Gaby" Hartnett, rated as the outstanding catcher in the major leagues, and the two veteran coaches, John "Red" Corriden and Roy Johnson. Hartnett, in addition to signing as a catcher, also signed a coaching contract this season.

Lazzeri also will be available as utility infielder.

Organization of the board was the brain of P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, who signed the 35-year-old Lazzeri without ever having met him. He was impressed with the former Yankee star because of his playing qualities, his sharp wisdom of baseball on the field and his ability to execute it.

Lazzeri was a most interesting member of the 16 Cubs who plunged into the first hard workout of the spring training campaign today.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY DINNER HERE

Freeman Photo

The annual Washington's Birthday Dinner of the Men's Club of the First Reformed Church, held Tuesday evening, was a notable success. Addresses were delivered by the Hon. John C. Knox, senior federal judge for the Southern District of New York, and Strickland Gillilan, a member of the White House Correspondents' Association, syndicate writer, humorist and author. The dinner was prepared and served by the ladies of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild. The above picture shows the speakers' table and a portion of the guests and members of the Men's Club in attendance.

Recreation Work At the Auditorium

Activities at the municipal auditorium under the direction of the Department of Recreation will be postponed from this Saturday until Saturday of next week. This has been made necessary by the fact that special events taking place Saturday night and Friday night make it impossible to accommodate the children who ordinarily use the facilities of the auditorium on Saturdays.

Since early last October the municipal auditorium has been filled every Saturday from 10 in the morning to 5 in the afternoon by an average group of 300 boys. Under the direction of the Department of Recreation, with N. Y. A. boys as play directors, every type of indoor activity has been made available to boys from all parts of the city.

The boys' basketball leagues, comprising 12 teams, hold away on the auditorium court every Saturday. In addition to these, there is an inter-club league which plays a regular schedule of games. Basketball instruction is given to those boys who are not familiar with the game.

In addition to the basketball activities, the main floor of the auditorium is converted at special periods into a miniature sports arena, with boxing and wrestling as the featured activities. Tumbling and darts are also the other activities in this room.

The dining room of the auditorium becomes a game room, as ping-pong tables, checker boards and other such facilities are moved in. Magazines in this room serve those children not interested in other activities.

A new feature in the Saturday recreation program this season is the models club. This club meets each Saturday at 2 o'clock in the kitchen of the auditorium. Here an interested group of boys work on model airplanes, starting with the simplest types, and progressing to the flying models.

Another feature of the program this year is a weekly newspaper, "The Recreation News," published and delivered to each boy at the auditorium on Saturdays. A stack of boys, headed by Ray Adams, the editor, writes up the various recreational activities as well as special literary efforts.

Although it will be necessary to hold over the scheduled activities this Saturday, the regular schedule will be resumed again next Saturday, March 5. All league games will be postponed until then.

Says Schuschnigg Sang 'Swan Song'

the same generous words for Hitler as our Fuehrer found Sunday for the Austrian chancellor?" the Nazis asked. "Why did he read the riot act so aggressively to our Austrian Nazi comrades?"

"Why open up old wounds? Schuschnigg missed his big chance. For us he is finished. History will take its course without him."

"We got the police and the ministry of the interior as well as large sections of the army. Austria is ours." (The Austrian Interior Minister Seyss-Inquart is pro-German and friendly with the Nazis.)

"It is too bad that Schuschnigg must end thus. We already had a central office established in Berlin to cope with the problem of unemployment in Austria, to take over into Germany a number of Austrian unemployed, and to help solve Austria's economic problems."

"All this will come—but without Schuschnigg. Tonight's address was his swan song. Hitler was willing to give him a real chance, but he missed it."

An Austrian Nazi, without definite plans, spoke darkly of demonstrations soon to protest that they had not received the freedom of action expected from the Schuschnigg-Hitler collaborations.

Catholics and Jews of the Front and the Vienna press were enthusiastic over the chancellor's declaration Austria remained an independent state and that there would be no deviation from the Christian, authoritarian course mapped by the anti-Nazi Chancellor Dollfus.

The momentous speech came as police announced a ban on Nazi Party insignia and songs. The only course then, said some Nazis, was to submit now to Tatterland Front regulations which obliged them to recognize Austrian independence and the present form of the state.

Effervescence in Champagne The effervescence of champagne is brought about by the yeast fermentation of sugar to carbon dioxide and alcohol during a secondary fermentation in the bottle, according to Industrial and Engineering Chemistry. The correct amount of sugar must be employed in making champagne since too high a carbon dioxide pressure will break the bottles, and too low a pressure gives an insipid beverage. It is said. Rock candy is customarily used.

some murders which has ever taken place in the county.

Admitted Crime.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray prosecuted the case from the start and it was at his office in Ellenville that Brown first made a statement of the crime. He admitted the crime and said he had gone to the house for the purpose of robbery. On the way from Goshen to Ellenville Brown told Sheriff Molyneux that he had committed the crime and asked that he be electrocuted immediately. He at that time asked Sheriff Molyneux if he could not "burn tonight and get it over with."

On the trial there was much evidence of a scientific nature given by the State Trooper, E. C. I. experts as to the nature of the blood found on the clothing of Brown and on the pinion gear as well as from an analysis of the blood scraped from the debris in the burned room.

Assemblyman J. Edward Conway and Former County Attorney Robert G. Groves were assigned by the court to defend the negro and on the trial before County Judge Frederick C. Traver every bit of evidence which could be procured by the defense was submitted. In one of the most closely contested trials ever held in the county, Brown took the stand in his own defense and denied his guilt and said he had made a statement at the time of his arrest because he was afraid of the threats of a mob which had gathered outside the building on the street.

In jail he was considered a model prisoner and never complained of his lot.
